

2 DAYS. 1500 VOLUNTEERS. 200,000 CHILDREN FED.

Donald Danforth Plant Science Center

World Food Day Event: October 15-16, 2010

HUNGER IS REAL.

- More than 1 billion people are undernourished worldwide.
- Every six seconds a child dies from malnutrition.

WE CAN HELP.

- On October 15-16, the Danforth Center will commemorate World Food Day by assembling 200,000 rice-soy protein meal packages for the chronically malnourished in Africa.

YOU CAN, TOO.

- We need 1500 people (ages 7 and up) with a passion for helping others to register in advance and come to the Center and, as part of a team (your own or one of ours), package food for 60 minutes.
- After packaging, volunteers can tour the Center and learn how our science helps combat malnutrition.

THERE'S A (SMALL) PRICE.

- Volunteers are asked for a pre-paid contribute to cover a portion of the cost of food/packaging/shipping: $15; students/ $20; adults. Your investment is matched by support from others so that ultimately 150 children are ultimately fed through your effort and financial gift.

For More Information or to Register go to:

www.danforthcenter.org/WFD

DONALD DANFORTH
PLANT SCIENCE CENTER

Our Promise – Our Mission

Feed the hungry and improve human health.

Preserve and renew our environment.

Enhance our region as a world center for plant science.